

What is Green Power from the City of Georgetown?

Green Power is the City of Georgetown's way of offering you the opportunity to support electricity generated by renewable power sources from Santee Cooper that minimize harm to the environment. By participating in this program, you have the opportunity to make a difference in something that is important... improving our environment.

What is green power?

Electricity generated by renewable resources like solar, wind and methane gas from decomposing garbage.

Where does Green Power come from?

Santee Cooper generates this renewable energy source from methane gas produced at the Horry County Solid Waste Authority Landfill.

Why should I participate in Green Power?

Green power is sold to residential customers in 100 kilowatt-hour blocks (about 10% of a typical household's monthly energy use). An additional investment of $6 per month on your electric bill buys enough Green Power to equal the environmental benefits of not driving your vehicle for three whole months.

How will participating in Green Power affect my electric bill?

Green Power facilities are, in general, more expensive to install. Each block will add an extra $3 to your monthly electric bill. You can sign-up for as many blocks as you like. All revenues from every block of Green Power you buy will be used for future renewable energy projects.

How do I sign-up?

You can sign-up a number of ways:

- return the attached card
- visit our Web site at www.cogsc.com
- call us at (843) 545-4044
- come into our customer service office, at city hall.

You can help us make this happen! We will be waiting to hear from you because... it's the right thing to do!
